Hi all.

Today we further discussed the difficulty with getting the cameras to focus and what we've done so far to try and remedy this:

- Varying lighting conditions
- Varying face distance from the camera
- Talking to helpdesk about possible solutions
- Using intel dynamic calibration tool

So far these have all been unsuccessful, so we decided to have another go with calibrating the camera before deciding to use the existing stereo setup you have. We've just tried calibrating the camera in various ways and have concluded we are unable to improve the focus by the necessary amount, and we therefore think that it's best to proceed with the existing setup. If anyone has any further ideas for focussing the Intel camera we are also happy to explore these.

Cheers,

Liam and Gary

My apology for the Soulface project meeting this Weds as I'll be running a demo at that time for the ABI open day.

Liam/Gary: you should check out the demos and talks this Weds (I sent you a flyer last week).
Encourage your EngSci classmates aswell....

Cheers,

Martyn.

Dear Liam and Gary

I am sorry, I will be tied up at the IEEE Instrumentation and Measurement conference Tuesday to Thursday, so also won't be able to meet until Friday 10:00 to 12:00, or after 13:30.

Best wishes

Poul

Hi Poul.

Gary and I would like to meet on Friday if you're still free. We would prefer a slot in the morning, but are both free for any of the times you mentioned yesterday, just let us know what suits you best. Martyn, if you're free then as well it would be great to have your input too.

Cheers,

Liam

How about Friday 11.00-11.30? Still available Poul?

I've booked the Level 6 meeting room (to the right of reception as you exit the lift.)

Cheers,
Martyn.
